

TELUS MAKES PROGRESS; WHY DOESN'T YOUR COLLECTIVE AGREEMENT?

Telus makes progress on plans to grab market share ahead of Rogers/Shaw merger

Source: published March 9, 2022 on Cartt.ca

In the media, Telus proudly boasts of having billions in capital expenditures ready for big projects, but the company sings a much different tune at the bargaining table by presenting and holding fast to concessions.

Earlier this month, Cartt.ca published an article featuring, Executive VP & COO, Tony Geheran discussing Telus' aggressive effort to grab market share. The article highlights Telus' announcement in May of last year that it would "invest an additional $1.5 billion in capital expenditures over 18 months" and is even bumping up "investments that we would've otherwise made in 2023 and 2024".

But while the company focusses on rapid expansion, why does it rebuff strengthening its core foundation by reinvesting in its highly skilled and experienced workforce? You, the members.

Strange that a company with billions to expand, comes to the bargaining table with little else than a list of concessions. But, maybe it's a savvy business model? After all, "Telus has been able to build its fibre network at a low cost of capital", as the article highlights. But is that low cost human capital?

How Telus is currently bargaining would lead you to believe they view their workers as low cost human capital. After a global pandemic, you'd figure the company would recognize the tremendous efforts of you, the members, but instead they choose to nickel and dime. And why?

According to the article, Telus fared well during the pandemic, despite the strain placed on the network due to surging bandwidth demand. But Geheran credits the network itself, saying "while the pandemic certainly registered a spike for us our network and the capacity within it was able to absorb it seamlessly."

That seamless resiliency of the network wasn't the technology alone, it was the collective efforts of you our members - braving the front lines and putting in the hours under incredible pressure to ensure the network held strong and the calls were answered. And now at bargaining time, all they are bringing are concessions.

"You don't just plug in a network and presto, everything runs smoothly," says Donna Hokiro, President of USW Local 1944. "Telus doesn't seem to get that it's their unionized employees, our members, who have worked tirelessly to make Telus great. It's our members that have lined the pockets of those at the top. They play lip service, but that's all it is, oh and disrespect. There's that."

Telus expects demand will continue to grow. So we, at Local 1944, continue the fight so that the working conditions will improve, along with wages, and benefits will grow and improve accordingly.

Candace Knoll

VOLUNTEER SPOTLIGHT

Congratulations to Candace Knoll who was recently featured in United Way BC's Volunteer Spotlight for her commitment to volunteer work and community leadership.

"My volunteering journey was inspired by my mother and motivated by my goal to bring the local Black community together. I carry this motivation into my current volunteer work today," Sister Knoll notes in the article.

A member of Unit 51, Sister Knoll is also incredibly active within our Local, sitting on the Civil and Human Rights Committee as well as the Telus Bargaining Committee. She was even nominee for Outstanding Shop Steward for the 2020 Elsie Awards.

AN EXAMPLE OF SOLIDARITY

Local 1944 would like to celebrate the efforts of Brother Michael Goodmurphy, who in his free time stood with members of Local 1-1937 members and walked the picket lines during the longest-ever strike in the history of the BC forest industry (225 days).

"Labour is stronger when we stand together, labour rights improve when we fight together", says Goodmurphy, member of Unit 35, Campbell River.

But he didn't show up empty handed. "When I visited, I took them food 4 or 5 times."

As Goodmurphy points out, "a contract is only as good as the members who fight for it."

SISTER JUANITA WEST RETIRES

On the afternoon of Friday March 11, Sister Juanita West (Local Union Representative for Alberta) closed the book on what has been a long career involving many years of dedicated labour activism.

"We thank Sister West for her years of service to the labour movement and we wish her all the best in her retirement," says Donna Hokiro, President of USW Local 1944.

SPREADING SOME LOVE

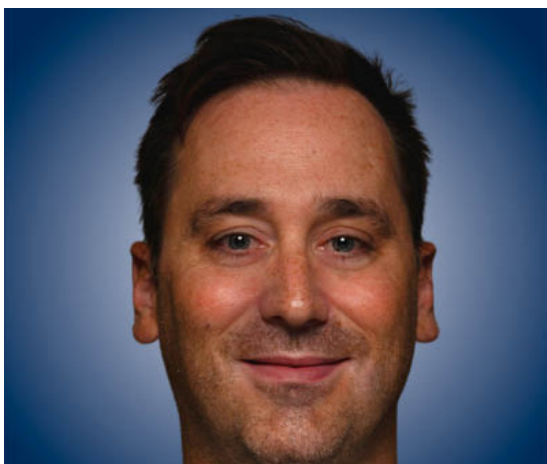

We are so proud to announce that Local 1944 has donated $1,000 toward the Easter Fun Baskets for Kids Donation Drive organized by Discovery Toys.

Thanks to this worthy effort, Easter baskets will be delivered to children supported by the Ronald McDonald House.

Each child will receive a high quality, fun-filled basket which will include a DT toy, book or game and some Easter candy treats to help make their holiday a little brighter.

Johnny King

NEW COMMUNICATIONS SPECIALIST

Having joined us in late February, Johnny King brings 15 years of professional experience in media, communications, graphic design and advertising, as well as a personal passion for advancing the labour movement.

He enjoys spending his spare time with his wife and kids as well as with his lap dog, Henry - a 10 month old great pyrenees.

Johnny's an absolute hoot to work with and we're so happy to have him as part of our team.

WHO'S NEW IN THE UNION OFFICE

MICHELLE DEY

Temporary Local Union Representative – Edmonton

Once a temporary Local Union Representative in 2015-16, Michelle returned to the Union Office in January 2022 and is happy to get to know the units in Alberta in both clerical and outside plant.

Having been with the company for almost 35 years, Michelle has plenty of experience with our Local having held many positions throughout the years.

An active Shop Steward since 2003, Michelle's union involvement quickly evolved taking on roles from Councillor to Unit Vice-Chair to Unit Chair to LUDM Delegate to Member and past Co-Chair of the National Health and Safety Committee.

"Being involved in the Union has helped me understand the many differences and similarities of our members," says Michelle. "Facilitating many Shop Steward and Health and Safety classes over the years has given me the ability to listen and understand, to be open to differences, to help to educate members on how to protect themselves as well as their coworkers regardless of where they work."

STEVE DURRELL

Temporary Local Union Representative – Calgary

An active member of the Union since 2016, Steve has made incredible strides and contributions having been a key Organizer for our newly unionized members at ADT by Telus.

Steve has held many positions in our Union, including Shop Steward, Executive Board member, Health and Safety Committee member, and was the Unit 203 Chair for several years.

"Through training opportunities, social and political activism, and standing up for my coworkers, the Union has helped guide me in personal development so that I was prepared to run for union offices, like Unit Chair and Regional Executive Officer, and eventually take on my new role as a Local Union Representative."

Beyond his labour activism, Steve is also very active in the Alberta NDP and has been cleared and vetted for a nomination race to run again for Airdrie-Cochrane in the next Alberta provincial election.

Labour activism isn't just about helping coworkers, it can also be an excellent gateway to personal growth.

That's why Local 1944 aims to empower our members by offering activists from the shop floor opportunities to grow within our Union.

That growth can begin with a Shop Steward course.

USW NEW LEADERSHIP

Marty Warren

Scott Lunny

Dominic Lemieux

Myles Sullivan

Congratulations to the recently members of the United Steelworkers leadership who were sworn in on March 1st.

The USW's International Executive Board was elected during international elections held in late 2021 by the Union's members.

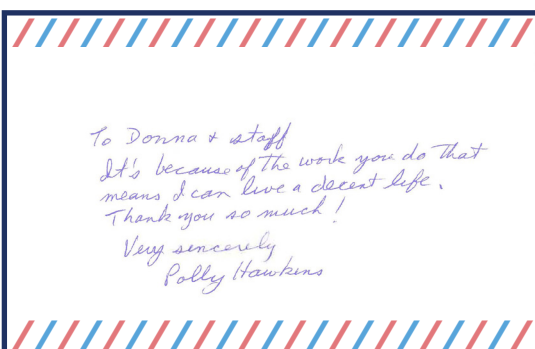

After many years as Director of District 6, Marty Warren replaces Ken Neumann who retired after nearly 20 years in the position of Canadian National Director. Filling the vacancy in District 6 (Ontario and Atlantic Canada) is new Director Myles Sullivan.

Also new to the Director position is Scott Lunny of District 3 (British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba, Yukon Territory, the Northwest Territories and Nunavut). For the past 25 years, Scott has worked within our Union, including as the Assistant to the District Director and as a servicing Staff Representative.

However, it wasn't all change as Dominic Lemieux was re-elected as Director of District 5 (Quebec).

Congratulations one and all!

A NOTE OF THANKS

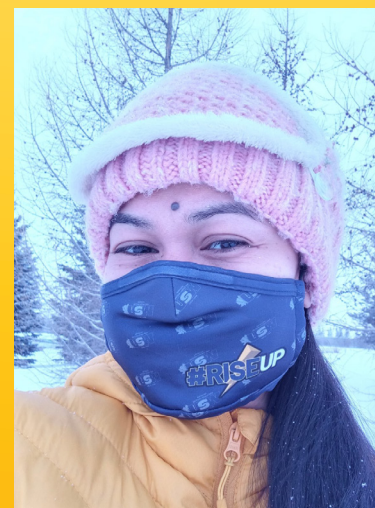

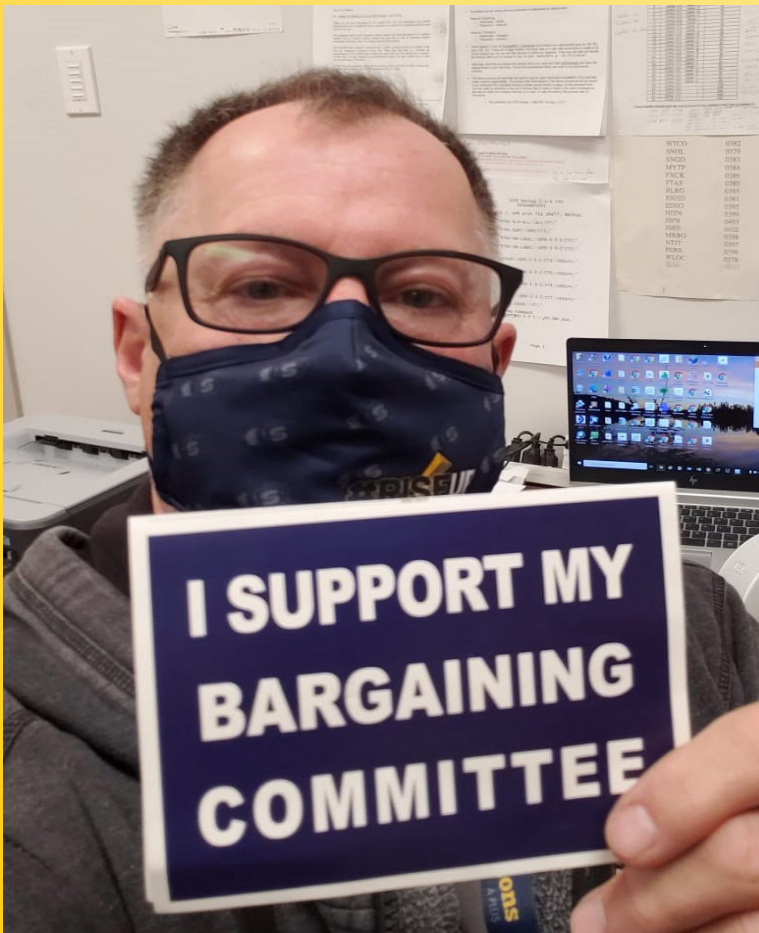

"To Donna & Staff,

It's because of the work you do that means I can live a decent life. Thank you so much!

Very sincerely,

Polly Hawkins"

CAMPAIGN #3 – #RISEUP

Bargaining is here, and the key to making sure YOU get a fair and improved Collective Agreement is YOU showing your support for YOUR BARGAINING COMMITTEE.

Each member was mailed their very own #RISEUP mask, stickers and tent card. Your Bargaining Committee is asking you to wear/use these items and to take a photo (or many photos) while doing so, the more original the better.

Then send those photos in to riseup@usw1944.ca so that we can show off your support for your Bargaining Committee on social media.

With every campaign, our solidarity and willingness to act in unity is growing. With the whole membership behind your Bargaining Committee, your employer will have to get the message that we won't rest or waver until we get a respectful deal that gets you better treatment at work.
